CHANGES THAT HAVE taken place in this community during the 16 years we have been here have been so outstanding and so continuous that today there is little to remind one of the "old Campbell" that had existed for many years before we arrived on the scene.

Although the "stirring" had started back in 1956, there was much around then to remind one of the sleepy little homespun small town that had been founded more than 50 years before. But that is not the case now.

Those of us who have been constantly exposed to the transition or transformation that has taken place in this community in less than two decades have not, in most cases, realized how drastic or dramatic have been the changes in this community.

That is, until one has occasion to refer to those prior years.

Like we did, for example, in sadly reporting the death last week of our old friend, Carl Field.

OBVIOUSLY, "FIELD'S Store" means nothing to the vast majority of the people of this community today. (It has been gone for more than 10 years.)

Yet for 33 years (from 1925 to 1958), Carl's store was an important part of the business community of Campbell.

The business district, for all intents and purposes, during those years was confined to a few blocks on Campbell Ave., a far cry from modern shopping centers that exist within the city limits today. Each of the seven centers probably has more stores than were in all of Campbell in those days.

Someone recalled that at one time in those early years there were about seven food or meat markets in "downtown" Campbell within a few blocks of each other, most of them either one or two-man operated.

And that was the type of store that Carl operated.

Because of the transformation that has taken place in our community, hardly any evidence remains today in the "downtown" core of the business community that was.

Condemnation, remodeling or rebuilding has removed almost all the traces of the "old Campbell."

All of us seem so involved with the "new Campbell" that when an "old-timer" like Carl Field, who was so active in those early years, passes, it takes considerable research just to even pinpoint where his store was located for all those years.

No one really wants to go back to the "good old days".

Yet one who remembers them can't help but miss that "personal touch" that was so evident in those days when everyone knew everyone else and acted accordingly.

That was the era in this community in which Carl Field played an active part.

And he thrived on it.

CARL'S SUDDEN PASSing came as a distinct shock to all of us who knew him well.

We will miss his vigorous actions, his enthusiastic approach to new subjects and his definite opinions (which he didn't mind expressing) on almost any issue, controversial or otherwise.

Some called Carl opinionated. And he probably was.

But his opinions were almost always founded on cold logic and sound knowledge that he had absorbed by being well-read and well-versed on a variety of subjects.

It was always invigorating to get into a discussion with Carl on some topic, if for no other purpose but to see if one could "catch him."

But that didn't happen very often ("catching him", we

AS RESULT OF COURT DECISION

Dismissed medical staff regains hospital status

After approximately 30 days of "forced absence" (Aug. 28–Sept. 29) as a result of being dismissed as staff members of the Campbell Community Hospital, Dr. Richard Rhodes as chief-of-staff and 34 other doctors on the active staff, have regained their original status at the hospital as of Sept. 30.

The "dismissal" action of the staff by the new owners of the hospital was nullified by a decision by Superior Court Judge Marshall Hall who granted a temporary injunction against the new owners' action. The original staff members had filed suit to regain their former privileges.

Dr. Rhodes explained that the original staff members are attempting to cooperate with the new owners but that it will take several more weeks before it will be possible to evaluate the situation and determine whether the quality of medical care will be affected.

Complicating the situation is that 23 of the staff of 28 nurses resigned during the hassle that erupted when the new ownership took over and wholesale staff dismissal took place.

Involved also is the granting of temporary privileges to doctors who have not been approved by the proper staff committees. The 18 doctors who were brought in to replace the original staffers are still using the hospital facilities.

In February of this year, the Campbell Community Hospital, which had been operating as a non-profit institution, was purchased by Pacific Community Hospital, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Community Psychiatric Corporation, and the hospital reverted to a profit-making status.

In August it was reported that a new ownership/management change had been made in which three private investors, Dr. Lloyd Pyzer, Roy von Schoenstein and Thomas Stone, had purchased control.

Still remaining unclear, however, is what effect this change had on the original purchaser, Pacific Community Hospital, inasmuch as no apparent steps had been taken to change the legal status that was approved when the purchase was made in February.

Dr. Rhodes said that the 48-bed hospital is now operating at better than average capacity but some definite problems exist because of lack of a full nursing staff.

In addition to the change in nurses, there has been a "turnover" in the business office, administration and other phases of the hospital operation, it has been pointed out.

Three of the chief nurses, Mrs. Kathleen McGaw, Mrs. Mary Barr and Mrs. Evelyn Renna, were dismissed by the new ownership early in September and the other nurses left the hospital service after giving their required notices.

ON E. CAMPBELL AVE.

Residents seek city aid for traffic woes

Possible solutions to eliminating the increasingly heavy traffic problems brought about by through traffic on E. Campbell Ave. (between Bascom and Leigh) are scheduled to be presented to the City Council on Monday, Nov. 13.

And the "solutions" could range from closing the street to through traffic at either Leigh or Bascom to channeling traffic into different turn-off lanes.

The Council indicated that after the suggestions had been presented on Nov. 13 that, before action would be taken, a public hearing would be held to get as much reaction as possible from all residents.

COUNCIL DIRECTION

The public works department was directed by the Council at the last meeting to come up with some suggestions or solutions for Nov. 13, after approximately 20 residents had aired their grievances at the meeting.

The barrage by the beleagured residents was led off by Bill Dok, of 1330 E. Campbell Ave., a San Jose attorney and a member of the newly formed Civic Improvement Commission.

Dok said that the public works department had indicated that there was a solution to the problem when the traffic pattern of the area was under discussion by the Planning Commission several months ago.

However, he emphasized the residents had heard no more about it and they wanted to know why the solution had not been implemented. He said that portion of the street was now carrying 5000 cars daily and something needed to be done to protect the residents.

Dok said that the people did not expect the police department to "baby sit" the street and that they had done an admirable job. He emphasized that many accidents had taken place on the street, a recent one, he added, saw a "Corvette" disintegrate in his front yard after taking four city trees.

He said that the city now had a financial windfall from the federal government and thus the "no money" excuse would not be valid.

HYDE SPEAKS

Other speakers taking the microphone to emphasize the serious situation that exists on the attractive residential street included Homer Hyde, of 1279 E. Campbell Ave., former mayor of Campbell.

Hyde said that the people were not asking for a Utopia but just wanted to get the volume of traffic down to a reasonable level.

Others speaking were Dietrich Vondohlen, of 1151 E. Campbell Ave., Mrs. Glen Oliver, of 9 Peter Drive and David R. Douthit, of 1350 E. Campbell Ave.

All of them emphasized the need for the city to do something about the situation. Mrs. Oliver said that if something could not be done the street should be turned into a commercial area and her place would be for sale for $100,000, she added.

Bill Wren, public works director, in answer to many of the critics for lack of action by his department emphasized

WANTED - -

A vacancy exists on the newly-formed Civic Improvement Commission and interested residents are asked to file applications with the city clerk.

The City Council will make the appointment from the list of applicants on file and is anxious to fill the vacancy as soon as possible.

The vacancy was created by the resignation of Joel Stock.

Two stores hit Monday by hold-ups

Two stores on opposite sides of town were hit by armed robbers within the same hour on Monday night. In both cases the bandits made "clean getaways."

But on the "credit" side, as a result of a stake-out by Campbell police over a four-day period, a suspect in the armed robbery of California Savings and Loan on Oct. 9, has been apprehended.

Police report that at 8:55 p.m. on Monday, Kirkwood Drugs in Kirkwood Plaza was robbed of narcotics and money by two armed robbers. The men, one carrying a sawed-off shotgun and the other a handgun, forced Joe Lombardi, the pharmacist on duty, at gunpoint to meet the demands of the robbers.

Then at 10:45 p.m., Donald Koester, clerk on duty at Fred's Liquors, at 1707 S. Bascom Ave., was held up by one man carrying a small revolver and wearing a stocking mask over his head.

Police Captain Larry Kelly reported that so far there have been no suspects in the two Monday hold-ups but that Charles Warren Boomer, 36, an excapee of Millhaven Penitentiary in Ontario, Canada, has admitted to holding up the savings and loan firm.

The suspect was apprehended after the police staked out the car that they thought was his for four days. The suspect was nabbed when he returned for his vehicle.

Council to meet Tuesday

A light agenda faces the City Council next Tuesday, Oct. 24 (Monday, Oct. 23 is Veterans Day, a city holiday) when plans for the new Mervyn's Department Store on W. Hamilton Ave. will be up for approval.

A hearing will also be held on the proposed zone change for the Sunsweet property, the first step in the conversion into a new center that is to be labeled, "The Factory."

The Council is also expected to act on an ordinance amendment that will more clearly define bicycle licensing and take the necessary final steps to receiving $75,000 in federal funds for park development.

A study session will also be scheduled on possible priorities in the expected $172,000 in federal funds under the revenue-sharing program.

The councilmen, city manager and most of the department heads were in Anaheim this week attending the annual convention of the League of California cities. At the convention, the revenue-sharing plan was one of the main items discussed.

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR EACH DAY

St. Lucy's "jubilee" ends next Sunday

An ecumenical service at 7:30 this evening, a community luncheon at noon tomorrow (Thursday), an original parish revue on Friday and an "Oktoberfest" on Saturday and Sunday (featuring a chicken barbecue on Sunday from noon to 6 p.m.) are the main features remaining in the week-long series of events marking the Silver Jubilee of St. Lucy's parish.

The jubilee program opened on noon Sunday with a Mass of Thanksgiving, celebrated by Archbishop Joseph T. McGuckin (pictures on page 10) and on Monday and Tuesday, Clayton Barbeau was the speaker at special programs. Tuesday's schedule was geared for the youth of the parish.

The luncheon tomorrow which will be held in the annex of Kennelly Hall and takes the place of the regular monthly Campbell Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting.

The Rev. Thomas D. Terry, S.J., president of University of Santa Clara, will be the featured speaker at the luncheon tomorrow. Father Terry, the 25th president of the university, has been president since 1968 when he succeeded the Very Rev. Patrick Donohoe, S. J.

Father Terry had been academic vice-president of Loyola prior to his appointment to the SCU presidency but had been dean of the college of arts and sciences at SCU from 1961-66.

Born in Pittsburgh, Pa., May 20, 1922, he attended high school in Kewance, Ill., and is a graduate of St. Louis University. He received his Ph. D. from the University of California, Davis.

Master of ceremonies at the luncheon will be Fred La Cosse, well-known newscaster on Channel 11. Al LaPlante, CofC president, will open the luncheon meeting, and will turn the program over to Mrs. Jeanette Watson, general chairman of the jubilee committee, who will present La Cosse and other civic officials present. Reservations for the luncheon indicate a capacity crowd will be on hand.

Doors of Kennelly Hall will open at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 20, for "This is Your Life, St. Lucy's", an original revue. A series of skits will be presented with a cast of 50, including "The Fathers Three" with Father Leonard Bose, pastor, and Fathers Henry Boisvert and G. Robert Leger, associate pastors, performing. The faculty of St. Lucy's will also take part in the revue numbers as will the youth and men of the parish C.C.D. teachers.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Goodman, co-chairman of the chicken barbecue on Sunday, Oct. 22, are preparing to serve 1000 orders of chicken, rain or shine. They urge those who expect to be on hand Sunday to purchase tickets beforehand. Tickets are $1.75 for a full serving and 75-cents for a half-portion.

There will be approximately 25 booths in the parking lot (if weather permits) offering games and merchandise on Saturday and Sunday during the "Oktoberfest" and continuous entertainment by musical groups will be provided during the day.

On Sunday the jubilee program will wind up at 6 p.m. when the many prizes will be given out. The grand prize is a new 1973 Pinto which has been on display at the parish.

Ballot propositions

On the November 7 ballot are 22 state propositions, two of them (1 and 2) concern state bonds, 11 of them (3 through 13) are classified as legislative constitutional amendments; four (14 through 17) are initiative constitutional amendments and five (18 through 22) are initiatives. Here is a brief description of the propositions. No recommendations are included.

PROPOSITION 1, Community college bond proposal: This authorizes the issuance and sale of state bonds up to $160 million to provide matching funds to community college districts for the construction of facilities. West Valley College will benefit by the passage of the proposition.

PROPOSITION 2, Health science facilities bond act: This will provide $155,900,000 in State bonds for health science facilities for the University of California. The objective is to develop more facilities so that more doctors, dentists, nurses, etc. can be obtained.

PROPOSITION 3, Pollution control facilities: This would amend the constitution to allow the legislature to issue revenue bonds to pay for the construction of pollution control facilities.

PROPOSITION 4, Legislative reorganization: It provides for the legislature to meet for a single two-year session during each two-year period between general elections instead of meeting in a new session each year.

PROPOSITION 5, Powers of school district boards: This would permit the legislature to authorize school boards to carry on activities which do not conflict with the laws establishing the school districts. It permits local control of programs but leaves with the legislature the power to set requirements and to prohibit local boards from specific actions.

PROPOSITION 6, Constitutional revision: This would simplify the provisions in the constitution generally related to the boundaries of the state and its relationship to the United States.

PROPOSITION 7, Suffrage: This would revise portions of the constitution dealing with qualifications for voting, voter residence, primary elections and conduct of elections to bring it into agreement with both federal and state court decisions. It changes the minimum voting age to 18; removes details of residence and literacy requirements.

PROPOSITION 8, Tax exempts: This would exempt certain pollution control facilities. This would authorize the legislature to exempt pollution control facilities from property taxes and requires the legislature to pay the cities, counties and special districts the money they would lose due to these exemptions. The objective is to give industry an incentive to put in pollution control facilities faster. (The authority granted by this measure, it is noted, would conflict with the limitations in Proposition 14. If both are approved the one receiving the highest vote will prevail.)

PROPOSITION 9, School building indebtedness: This would permit local entities to authorize by simple majority, rather than two-thirds vote, general obligation bonds for the purpose of repairing, reconstructing or replacing structurally unsafe school buildings.

PROPOSITION 10, Blind veterans tax exemption: This would permit the legislature to increase property tax exemptions from $5000 to $10,000 for veterans who are blind due to service-connected disabilities.

PROPOSITION 11, Privacy: This would include the "right of privacy" among the inalienable rights already listed in the constitution.

PROPOSITION 12, Disabled veterans tax exemption: This would give a $10,000 property tax exemption on the home of a veteran who has lost both legs, or has lost both arms and the use of these limbs.

PROPOSITION 13, Workmen's compensation: In cases where the worker has no dependents or legal heirs, the accidental death benefits under Workmen's Compensation will be paid into the Subsequent Injury Fund.

PROPOSITION 14, Taxation: This would limit local property tax rates, and place responsibility for financing welfare programs and schools upon the state and requires the state to utilize non-property taxes to obtain money to support these programs. This is popularly known as the "Watson amendment" and critics claim it could mean higher taxes for the average citizen through a shift of the tax sources.

PROPOSITION 15, State employees salary: This would set up new procedures for establishing salaries to be paid state employees comparable to those received in industry, business and government. It also provides for a system of collective bargaining.

PROPOSITION 16, California Highway Patrol salaries will be at least equal to the maximum paid other police officers and deputy sheriffs performing comparable duties.

PROPOSITION 17, Death penalty: This would allow the death penalty in California.

PROPOSITION 18, Obscenity legislation: This would permit the regulation of obscenity to be locally controlled and changes the definitions of obscene and harmful matter.

PROPOSITION 19, Marijuana: This proposes that no adult will be punished criminally for raising, preparing, transporting or possessing marijuana. But it would not permit the sale and laws prohibiting people under the influence of marijuana from damaging others would be retained.

PROPOSITION 20, Coastal zone conservation act: This would create the California Coastal Zone Commission to develop a comprehensive plan for balanced use, etc., of the California coastal zone. Within the zone, the act provides a permit area between the seaward limits of the state jurisdiction and 1000 yards landward from mean high tide line.

PROPOSITION 21, Student school assignment: This would add a section to the education code specifying that "no public school student shall, because of race, creed, or color, be assigned to or be required to attend a particular school." It would repeal legislation that establishes factors for consideration in preventing or eliminating racial imbalances in public schools.

PROPOSITION 22, Agriculture labor relations: This proposes the formation of an Agricultural Labor Relations Board to administer collective bargaining between farm employees and farm employers. It also sets conditions for representation of the workers and establishes certain unlawful acts and unfair labor practices.

mean), especially if it happened to concern sports.

Carl was an excellent athlete in his younger days, participating in almost every sport. For years he officiated in many athletic events. And he continued as an avid sports fan in his later years and, in addition developed into a top-notch golfer.

In fact, Carl played golf on Wednesday, the day before he was stricken.

CARL'S PROWESS ON the golf course was so far superior to ours that he probably could have spotted us the difference in our ages (about 15 years) in strokes and beaten us handily.

Over the years we played with him numerous times but the most eventful occasion was this year shortly after he had turned 74.

Carl was particularly "on his sticks", as they say, that day.

Those of us who were playing with (or against) him became his personal cheering section as it appeared that he could perhaps reach that coveted goal of "shooting his age."

He ended with a "76", only two over his age and four over par.

Those who are at all familiar with golf know that means good shooting.

Some of you may recall that we noted his achievement in this column.

He was proud, and rightly so, of his score and we were too.

Like the golden wedding anniversary that he and his Roberta celebrated just last August when 250 of their friends attended the reception in the Congregational Church.

Carl, by the way, was an expert on the rules of the ancient game of golf and often he was used as the final authority on a sticky question.

He knew the rules and he abided by them.

Come to think of it, that's the way he played the game of life.

And we think he scored well on that course, too.

-0-

IT COULDNT HAPPEN to a nicer person.

That seemed to be the general impression of all those who attended the dinner last Thursday honoring the Business and Professional Women's Club's woman of the year, Mrs. Evelyn (Skipper) Benson.

Skipper and her husband, Lowell, have operated the Campbell Cleaners for 34 years, which makes them almost the senior business people in point of continuous service in Campbell.

We mentioned that this community has changed a great deal in the 16 years since we have been at the helm of The Campbell Press.

So you can imagine what this transformation has meant to the Bensons who had been in town for some 18 years before we showed up.

Their operation has kept pace with the times as the modern equipment in their plant will testify. They have been in three different locations in town as their business expanded over the years.

Our 16 years in Campbell places us among the "new old-timers" in the business community, although, obviously, ranking far below such stalwarts as the Bensons, Kopper Kettle and Jeffers.

Because of the changes that have taken place, ordinarily at various community affairs our length of servitude in town puts us in the front rank as far as seniority is concerned.

But at a gabfest after Skipper's dinner the other night, we met the Jack Murdocks, a couple from Arcata, Calif., who formerly had lived in Campbell and had been quite active in community affairs. Jack served as president of the Campbell Kiwanis Club, for example, in 1942.

They had come down from Arcata especially for Skipper's dinner.

The Murdocks were recalling old times in Campbell with the other "old-timers" around the table. But we had met them for the first time that night.

It seems they left Campbell in 1947, nine years before we arrived in town.

Our "old-timer" status sort of slipped on that.

It's all sort of relative, we guess.

-0-

WHEN WE BROKE INTO the newspaper profession back in the dark ages, we wrote sports.

We thought of that when we were at the recent Stanford-University of Southern California football game and the sports writers and announcers referred to the "Stanford Cardinals."

We thought the announcers (and the writers, too, sort of) used "Cardinals" somewhat hesitatingly. They are not used to it. The "Stanford Indians" had been around too long.

We sympathized with the sports reporters.

But we suppose they will eventually get used to it.

We thought at the time when it was advocated that Stanford should give up as "Indians" and become "Cardinals" it was a silly idea.

And we still do.

Perhaps in a far-fetched way there may be some basis for the change in names, although we fail to see it.

We don't see how the real Indians could be degraded by it, except on those occasions when Stanford performed ignobly on the gridiron.

And we are pleased that our own high school still remains the "Indians"....

And the Cleveland Indians baseball team, the Washington Redskins in pro football and the Warriors in basketball are still around.

But the Stanford variety has bit the dust.

We are glad we are not still writing sports.

that his staff was on the side of the people but trying to solve the situation was difficult. He said that a proposed $26,000 grant for a traffic study of the area which was now in "limbo" had delayed his department from taking direct action previously.

Wren maintained that dips and stop signs would not solve the problems and if the street was closed to through traffic adjacent residential streets, Fewtrell, McBain and Ridgeley, would suffer.

Prior to the discussion at the last meeting, Police Chief Don Burr presented an accident report on the street indicating that there had been three since the first of the year. He also reported that 16 citations had been issued by radar in September.

The report showed, Burr added, that there was a high frequency of violations.

OTHER ACTIONS

In other actions at the last meeting, the Council:

APPROVED the tentative subdivision map of Dura Style Homes for the 14 acre portion of the Amato property on which 65 single-family homes will be built.

AWARDED contracts for the purchase of city equipment as a result of bids submitted: Successful bidders were street sweeper, Transport Supply Co., $15,104.25; chipper, Western Traction, $5,198.55; asphalt patch truck, Tuban Ford, $13,792.70; two pickup trucks, Courtesy Chevrolet, $6,321.00 and tractor, Contractors Machinery, $9,441.60. (A canopy for $525 was added).

ENDORSED Proposition 1 on the Nov. ballot for $160 million in bonds for community colleges.

SET OCT. 30 as the date to hear a presentation on the proposed countywide housing element following a meeting with youth leaders of the community.

NO FLOODING

Heavy rains during the past week have not caused any emergency calls for flooding and other problems for the Campbell Fire Department, Fire Chief Gene Borden reports.

A fire on Monday at 1319 W. Campbell Ave. destroyed a closet and did roof damage.

The department answered a call for a pole fire at Latimer and Bland on Monday

Planners okay new zoning

Approval of a zone change from R-1 to C-2-S requested by Serafina Chinazzo for property located at 2290 Winchester Blvd., was granted by the Planning Commission on Monday night.

The zone change, the only "new" item on the agenda, was for a 7,870 square foot parcel on the corner of Winchester and Kennedy, adjacent to St. Lucy's. Chinazzo indicated that he plans to have offices on the property.

In other actions, the Commission approved the request of Leonard Borello for Parnas Co., for plans for a commercial building at 2325 Winchester Blvd. The matter had been continued for several months.

Another continued matter that won Commission approval was the request of Vinod K. Kamboj to convert a residence at 880 E. Campbell Ave. into a bridal center.

Other matters on the agenda were continued. These included: plans for a residence at 313 Grant submitted by E. R. Nolen (to Jan. 1973); plans of Odis Ray for converting a residence into an office at 455 N. Harrison (until November 6); zone change from C-2-S to R-M or R-1 for property at 973 Apricot, owned by M. O. Patricks (until Jan. 1973); zone change for property at 1062 E. Campbell (for 30 days).

BURGLAR ALARMS

Vandals Beware, if you [illegible] choose to break into amden's buildings you might e heard by a silent listener! amden's new silent alarm ystem will insure you a not pleasant welcome from the olice department.

Recent rises in school vandalism and theft have caused xtremely high insurance rates or school damages. Unless ver $1000 in damage is done, nsurance companies will not ay.

As a result, all schools in he district have installed silent larm systems in certain key reas. These alarms pick up ny unusual noises and intantly wire them to the ounty Communications Cener. Within minutes the police rrive at the very building the ounds come from.

Alarms were installed in ll areas at Camden that have een vandalized often or conain expensive equipment, uch as the shop classes and yping rooms. The alarms are et every night and during eekends.

COMPETING SENIOR

Camden senior, John Perry, wil' be competing to become ligible for the National Merit cholarship.

John, who is rated in the op 5% of the nation, is among 5,000 finalists competing ationwide for one of the 3,000 scholarships available. The scholarships, which range rom $1,000 to $8,000, are artially donated by various corporations. The final winners will be chosen by their core on the SAT test, which vill be taken October 14.

John's future plans are ither to attend U.C. Santa ruz or Riverside, and perhaps o major in oceanography.

STUDENT OPINION

In a recent poll taken of amden students, President Nixon was considered to have a safe edge in the coming election. President Nixon led with 47% of the votes, while Senaor McGovern had 37%. The emaining 16% were undecided.

State propositions 8, 17, nd 19 were also polled. Proposition 8 seems well ahead with 43% yes, 15% no, but he 42% undecided could wing it either way.

Proposition 17 on the Death Penalty is all but passed s far as the students are concerned with 68% saying yes, 21% no and 11% undecided. Proposition 19 on marijuana was the closest with 45% saying yes, 41% saying no and 14% not sure.

Time will tell and public opinions change, so the validity of the poll can't be guaranteed and won't be known for sure until November.

JUNIOR MAGAZINE SALE

The class of '74 is having the annual Junior magazine sale. The goal this year is $7,000 and if the sale hits $8,000, a $100 prize drawing will be held. Money from the magazine sale goes to the class of '74 for the Junior Prom, Senior Ball, Senior Sneak Day and other activities throughout the next two years.

CAMDEN COMEDY

"This will be the first production in which the brand new velour curtains will be used. They'll play a most important part in the staging of the play," exclaimed Arlene Taylor, Camden's dramatic arts teacher about the upcoming comedy called Pillow Talk.

Tryouts were held a week ago last Monday, Wednesday and Thursday for all interested juniors and seniors. "It will be exciting to do and no one will get bored with it," commented Miss Taylor. Assisting Miss Taylor will be senior Sandy Jarret as student director.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

by Ellie Rumbaugh

Over 200 Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls, and Discovery Club girls of District Nine, planted poppies and wild flowers at some of the county parks this past Saturday. Under the organization of Mrs. Kay Cook and the direction of county park personnel the girls planted seed at Vasona, Santa Teresa, and Ed Levin County Parks. Some of the groups made a day of it with hikes and cook-outs in the park. With the recent rains the girls are hopeful of returning in the spring to view their crop of native California Poppies.

GIRL SCOUT News

NEIGHBORHOOD 15

Girl Scout troop organizers for Neighborhood 15 have been working very hard since last August to find leaders for the 30-odd troops in this neighborhood.

At a recent evening adult meeting, the new leaders were introduced: Brownie level, Mrs. James Henriksen and DeAnn Williams, Hazelwood School; Mrs. James Robb, Hazelwood School. Junior level, Mrs. J. S. Musco and Mrs. J. F. Wagner, San Tomas School; Mrs. Don Wedel, Capri School.

Returning leaders from last year's troops: Brownies, Mrs. Allen Knox, Baker School. Juniors, Mrs. Darrell Slafter and Mrs. A. G. Guenther, Baker School; Mrs. Leon Willette, Forest Hill School; Mrs. Leland Lopes and Mrs. Melvern Swenson, Capri School; Mrs. Anthony Mendivil, San Tomas School; Mrs. David Harrison, Hazelwood School.

All of these troops are now in session, with plans on the drawing board for the remainder of the neighborhood's troops.

TROOP 567

Cadette Girl Scouts No. 567 are hoping that fair skies will prevail as they and their guests (both girlfriends and boyfriends) attend the University of Santa Clara Homecoming football game.

Members of this troop helped serve breakfast to Campbell city employees this summer, and are looking for new ways to help in the community.

Leaders of this Neighborhood 15 troop are Mrs. Doris St. Germaine, Mrs. Victoria Candelaria, Mrs. Jackie Jollay and Mrs. Kay McFall.

IT'S A LONG, LONG TRAIN —Perhaps the world's largest mobile oil painting of a train is resting against the wall in the office of its artist, Michael Kotowski, 393 E. Hamilton Ave.

Kotowski, owner of VICOM Services, has long been fascinated by trains and has painted steam locomotives as far back as he can remember. In recent years he's been commissioned to paint book covers and paintings of famous trains for personal art collections.

This painting spans 11 feet of wall space and stands over six feet tall. Its subject is the Overland Limited, taken from a photograph of that train as it crossed the country near Elko, Nevada. A practicing commercial artist, Kotowski recently relocated in Campbell, after a two year stay in Los Gatos. He is a graduate of San Jose State University and holds a M.A. in outdoor environment design.

Work experience program gets boost from federal government

West Valley College will be strengthening its work experience program in the next few months, thanks to a $20,000 grant the college received recently from the federal government.

The college applied for the grant in July and was one of 17 community colleges (from a total of 50 applicants) to receive a grant. Thursday evening the college board of trustees formally accepted the grant.

The work experience program is a cooperative program between the college and area business and industry whereby an occupational student receives credit for working part-time in the same field as he is receiving training.

During last spring's semester some 564 students from the business and engineering-technology divisions were enrolled in the program, with each student working 10-20 hours in his specific field.

The grant will enable the college to establish a faculty position for the program. Primary duties will include establishing new student work stations with business and industry, assisting with coordination of the program and advertising the program to the community.

PRESENTATION---Mrs. Edith Morley (center), past president of the BPW and a former "woman of the year" presents Mrs. Evelyn (Skipper) Benson with the honor for the current year at the annual BPW dinner. On the right is Mrs. Phyllis Acker, club president, who presided, an interested observer of the award ceremony.

Antique show changes location to country fairgrounds site

Episcopal Church Women of Trinity have set November 10, 11 and 12 for their annual Antiques Show and Sale this year, with a new location, the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds at 344 Tully Road, San Jose, it was announced today by Mrs. Carroll Soderer, chairman.

This will be the 14th year of the show, which annually brings record numbers of both amateur and professional antique buffs to San Jose. Hours will be noon until 9 p.m. November 10 and 11; 11 a.m. until 6 p.m. November 12. Working with Mrs. Soderer as co-chairmen are Mrs. Sam Brown and Mrs. Joseph J. Amaral.

Advance reservations for exhibit space indicate the largest show ever, with a variety ranging from a priceless doll collection to historic maps, china, glassware, furniture, linen and knick-knacks. Many items cannot be duplicated.

In addition to the antiques exhibits, there will be the traditional Grandma's Cupboard, in which Episcopal Church Women sell pickles, jellies, jams, condiments, bakery goods, and sourdough starters. Recipes for use of the latter are available.

Trinity Church is the oldest Protestant Church in Santa Clara Valley, having been organized in 1861. A portion of the first building, in use in 1863, is incorporated into today's church, which is opposite historic St. James Park in downtown San Jose. Trinity Church Women established their Antiques Show and Sale 14 years ago to help support community projects of the church.

A donation of $1.25 will be asked at the door.

ON THE AGENDA

Southern Cross 115, White Shrine of Jerusalem, will meet Saturday at 8 p.m. in Los Gatos Masonic Temple for Friendship Night.

Thai children will receive help from local girl

She served as lodge secretary for many years and presided over the Past Noble Grands club and the stitching club.

Songs by Lynn and Monty Estabrook highlighted the "this is your life" program which was shown and narrated by Josephine Gray.

Six past deputy presidents were on hand for the presentation, Mrs. Gray, Bonnie Silverbauer, Helen Rice, Anna Rhine, Ora Lowe, and the honoree.

Eighteen past Noble Grands were also present and were honored by Noble Grand Vi Pierce.

"Where's Charley?" - Professional polish!!!

by Steve Rockwell

Los Gatos–"Charley and Company" rolled into the Los Gatos Prentiss Brown Auditorium on Friday night as the season's opener for Phoenix Productions. The audience was fully enchanted from the beginning to end with the antics of Charley and of Charley masquerading as his aunt from "Brazil, where the nuts come from".

The Frank Loesser musical based on the English farce contains such favorites as "My Darling, My Darling" and The New Ashmoleon Marching Society" as well as "Once in Love with Amy" so long identified with Ray Bolger, the show's original star.

The outstanding factor in this production was that it was thoroughly consistant throughout the show. All aspects with the exception of a few opening night technical flaws, gave the musical a professional flare rather than the feeling of a typical amateur presentation recently seen by this reviewer.

The direction by Joseph P. Glasner was overall in tact with each player stylized in the classic farce manner popular during the late 1800's. The book scenes held their own with the musical numbers and, therefore, the musical numbers did not carry the show.

It was a completely total show.

The musical director by Alan Haydis was tops and the tempos were bright to accent the precise and clever choreography by Meredithe Boyd.

The costumes by Gloria Stockton were exceptionally colorful especially the pink ball dresses in the third act. The sets by Ed Howie were small but had a finished quality that made them seem much larger. The show featured a ramp that encircled the orchestra which gave the audience a feeling of "theater-in-the-round."

C. Michael Traw, locally known as a director, wisely chose not to give an imitation of Ray Bolger, but offered an individual approach to the title role. The director tailored the role, Traw's ability, and fashioned it around his personality.

In many "star" vehicles, the director forgets this element and the lead role becomes a fifth rate Carol Channing or Barbra Streisand. ·

Playing his "Amy" was versatile Norma Hughes, one of the community theater's brightest actresses. She made her role most memorable especially in her solo number, "The Woman in his Room." Fred Hassett as Spettigue, the "dirty old man," has the energy of an eighteen-year-old and brought continued applause for him on every exit. A very talented man!

The romantic leads were played with conviction by Ruth Richard and Don Thibault. Both have excellent voices and are fine actors, a rarity on the local scene. Miss Richard has a perky devilish quality that gives her more dimension for an ingenue.

The musical climax was reached by Richard and Jo Ann Vine, residents of Campbell and veterans of the Broadway stage. They were nothing short of sensational. This reviewer hopes that the community will have another chance to see and hear them again in future shows.

Brian Mann played the oldest living man-servant alive. Each move was totally in character. He proved again that small parts can be the most rewarding and the audience was most rewarded with him.

The theater stage is small and Glasner was smart enough to use a small ensemble. The good looking chorus had a special vitality that made them have the strength of thirty and made the dancing look like fun, but still difficult. I would like to single out the dancing of Mary DeVries and Tim O'Brien in the "Pernambuco" number and the singing of Tom Gabbord (Campbell High School senior) and Doug Bedard in "Where's Charley?"

Because the cast enjoys performing the play, the audience has a good time and the play seems all too short. The best recommendation that I can give you is that this is a show for the entire family.

Parents should take this opportunity to expose their children to high quality community theater and take them out of the "world of television and the radio" and offer them an adventure to live theater.

Producer Marian Chapman said that there are tickets available for the remaining three performances: October 21, 27 and 28. For ticket information, call 378-6322 or 247-1645.

West Valley Sports

by Dick Sparrer

A wet, slippery football can be hard to hold on to!

The West Valley College gridders learned that the hard way last Saturday and ended losing to Contra Costa 20-8 in their Camino Norte Conference opener at Los Gatos High School's Helm field.

But the Vikes will be out to avenge that loss Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at Buck Shaw Stadium in Santa Clara when they meet Solano. It will be WVC's last home game for a while as they hit the road for two weeks before hosting DeAnza at Shaw in their regular season ender on November 11.

"Solano has two great backs," said West Valley Head coach John Nicholas. "They were their offense last year and they are again this year." The Tars have beaten Ohlone and Marin already this year.

A drenching downpour set the mood last Saturday and, even though it was over by the opening kick-off, fixed up the field for a slick night.

Mike Franz (Leigh), Roger Cantrell (Branham) and Gary Harris (Camden) led the Vikings offensively in the game. The Vikes marched for 209 yards total offense but only scored once, that a lone tally in the first period.

Defensively Doug Gerdwagon (Leigh) was the star. The big defensive end was in on many tackles in the game for WVC.

Mike Montesano (Leigh) went both ways for the Vikings, playing offensive guard and doubling as a defensive end, and did a strong job according to his coach.

Three defensive starters were sidelined due to injuries or illness. End John Baggerly (Los Gatos) and linebackers Jim Wittman (Blackford) and Tom Roberts (Leigh) saw no action in the game. But even so, the "defense didn't do bad at all," said Nicholas. "We just gave the ball away in crucial situations."

West Valley fumbled on their own four in the second period and the Comets scored an easy six points. In the third, the Vikes lost a fumble on their own 19 and the Comets again pushed it in. And in the fourth quarter the Vikes made it easy on their foes by fumbling in the endzone for a CCC td.

The orange and blue scored first in the game, the second time they got the ball. Gerald Galloway (Branham) returned a Comet punt 12 yards to the West Valley 24 to start the drive.

Franz burst for gains of 13, three, eight, one and four to push WVC to the Comet 47. Don DeLay (Saratoga) gained three yards but was two yards short of a first down and the Vikes had to punt it away.

But a penalty on the punt gave the locals possession on the CCC 29 and a first down. DeLay carried for three yards and Joe Alvarez gained five. Franz earned twice for a combined six yards down to the 15.

On the next play DeLay broke tackles on his way to a 15 yard touchdown run with less than two minutes to play in the first quarter. Vick Bennett's (Buchser) extra point kick missed and the Vikes held a 6-0 lead.

SOCCER

In their first out of conference battle of the round, West Valley picked up a quick 4-0 soccer win over the City College of San Francisco.

"Our bye really came at a good time," said WVC coach Dick Schwendinger. "After the week off I think we'll be in good shape both mentally and physically. I feel we have a good shot to win Northern California. If we can win some of the close ones we'll be in business."

Injuries and losing the "close ones" has been the story of the Viking season to date. After losing three of their four starting fullbacks to injuries, the Vikes lost two one goal decisions in the CNC and were tied in another on a late game tally.

But they had very little trouble against CCSF. Guy Hoosay (Leigh), Jim Brown (Mitty), Casey High (Saratoga) and Bob Sanchez (Branham) all scored in the win for the Vikes.

"It was our best passing game of the season," the coach added. He singled out Hoosay, Ron Johnson (Branham) and Mario Lopez (Wilcox) for fine passing up front.

WATER SPORTS

With a three game win string behind them, the West Valley College water poloists hit the road this week in an effort to stretch that streak to five. The Vikings travel to Chabot on Thursday for a 3:30 p.m. bout with the Gladiators and then open Camino Norte Conference play a day later against Solano in the Falcon's tank at 3:30 p.m.

The Vikes have already faced the Glads once this year and whipped them 21-7. But coach Gene Nyquist still expects a tough week for his Vikes.

"We beat Chabot easily the first time we played them this year but I'm sure they've improved since then," said the coach. "And Solano is much better than they were last year. They scored nine goals on DeAnza in a loss which shows that they have some offense."

"But we're just starting to put things together," added the coach. "The puzzle is just now starting to piece together. We're starting to play some pretty good water-polo."

And they did play some good polo last week as they nailed two wins by a total margin of two goals. The Vikes edged Santa Clara University 6-5 and came back the next day with a 9-8 win over Monterey.

CROSS COUNTRY

Their toughest test of the Camino Norte Conference season was supposed to be against the College of Marin. But the West Valley College cross countrymen put down any rumors of that last week when they romped by the Tars 23-36.

It was the first league season test of the young year for the Vikings and they won both ends of the double dual meet. They crushed Skyline 15-49 and ended first in the tri-meet score 23-43-68.

The two dual-meet wins boosted the Viking's consecutive win string to 19. They haven't lost in the past three years.

Mike Schaecher (Branham) was first on the day, clocked at 22:32. But tying him for that number one spot was Arturo Tello (Santa Clara), clocked at the exact same time.

Wayne Hopp (Los Gatos) ended fifth overall, Bert Hume (Campbell) seventh and Mike Haniger (Mitty) eighth, the first five to cross the line against Skyline.

'WAY UP—Going high for a Joe Alvarez pass is right end Gary Harris. Harris, a strong blocker, is also the second leading pass catcher for the Vikings this year. Harris has hauled in 16 tosses, second only to Sam LoBue's 17. Both will be looking to snatch a lot of aerials Saturday night when the Vikes host Solano at Buck Shaw Stadium. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

COW PALACE SPECIAL

The Grand National is coming up next week at the Cow Palace. This is one of four top livestock events in the country. The others are the International at the Amphitheater in Chicago, and the shows in Denver and Houston.

Highlight of this year's "National" will be the World Championship Jumper Sweepstakes which offers a purse of $17,500, the largest of any horse show in the country. Another record is that 40 top jumpers will face the obstacle course in the arena.

In previous years competition took place only during the evening Grand National performances. This year, however, competition will be held during 13 of 14 Grand National arena performances, October 27-November 5.

The new Quarter Horse Division has drawn 660 entries and the Hunters and Jumpers division has a record 769 entries, 386 more than last year.

The Appaloosa Division also set an entry record with 418, 115 more than 1971. Another spectator favorite, the Arabian Division, has a record 515 entries, 52 more than last year.

The show will also feature the American Horse Show Association Stock Seat Finals. A total of 1,604 horses, from 15 states, Canada and Malta, will compete for more than $80,000 in premiums at this year's Grand National.

RODEO

Another part of the annual event is the Championship Rodeo sanctioned by the Rodeo Cowboys Association. John MacDonald of Los Gatos, who has supplied much of the roping and bull-dogging stock for rodeos in the state, won't have any stock in the Grand National this year.

Stock contractor Cotton Rosser is importing stock from Colorado and Wyoming. This lessens the chance of a competitor knowing the habits of the animals before the event.

Rosser, co-owner of Golden State Rodeo Company, will bring 125 bucking horses, 65 bucking bulls, 100 roping calves and 135 Mexican horned steers for team roping and steer wrestling.

BUCKING BRONCS

Rosser claims that the professional rodeo bucking horse works less, lives as good and lasts longer than any other working horse in the world.

"No one can train a horse to buck," he says, "A horse either likes to buck or he doesn't. All his owner can do is give him plenty of rest, a lot of good feed and water and hope his cantankerous ways stay with him long enough that he'll continue trying to flatten every rider who crawls on his back."

Westmont Open Mouth

PAUL & MS. MAUREEN
(Macierz) (Hillyard)

Paul: Maureen, what are you reading?
Ms.: The latest edition of "Wonder Woman."
Paul: Why?
Ms.: Breaking the fetters of evil with her strength...
Paul: What?
Ms.: Parrying bullets with her steel bracelets, sweeping through dimensions of time and space in her invisible plane.
Paul: I always liked Little Orphan Annie
Ms.: Wonder Woman the Amazonian princess from Paradise Isle brought enemies to their knees.
Paul: Come on, we've got to write this column.
Ms.: And to her command with her magic golden lasso!
Paul: Golden Lasso or not — get your nose out of that comic and let's get started.

WELCOME MARIN AND PER

Seventeen year old Per Gerstedt is one of Westmont's four foreign exchange students. Sponsored by Youth for Understanding, Per comes from Malmö, Sweden and is staying with Robin and Jeff Werner, his sister and brother in this country.

Sophomore Marin Giller hails from Paris, France. Also sponsored by Y.F.U., his American sister and brother are Peggy and Jay Maltby.

These boys are also members of the Westmont Foreign Exchange Club. Besides that, Per plans to enter cross country, and Marin the soccer team

Paul: One Superman comic book is worth three Wonder Womans'.
M.S.: What about super-bands?

MARCHING WARRIORS

The Mighty Westmont Warrior Marching Band, led by Gary "Czar" Kenyon, advisor, has been parading circles around all other bands with their precision drills and dynamic sound.

Jeff Werner, senior, in his third year as Drum Major is currently readying junior Brent Walters as his successor. Brent hopefully will make his solo debut when the Warriors play the Prospect Panthers this Friday on their field.

Paul: Hey! You remember the "Dynamic Duo" - they never were defeated!
Ms.: Hmmm! Batman and Robin.
Paul: Sure - what do they remind you of?

VICTORIOUS FROSH-SOPH

The Frosh-Soph gridmen, continuing their winning trend, have scored three victories, promising - at press time - an undefeated season.

If they keep the offense moving, and the defense strong, the F/S squad has a good chance of taking the West Valley League Frosh-Soph championship.

Paul: You know, super-heroes really got around. Green Hornet and his Black Beauty, Spiderman and his webs...
M.S.: But Superman could leap tall buildings with a single bound on an "Up, up, and away!"

UPCOMING EVENTS, NEWS, ETC.

Tonight is the start of something new at Westmont. The word is "student involvement." Starting with the PTSA meeting tonight.

The Parent Teacher Student Association costs $1.25 for membership. The first meeting is tonight in the Westmont cafeteria.

Gordon McLean will speak on "How to survive living with teens." McLean is the head of Campus Life, and hosts the KLIV Teen Line on Sunday nights.

Student body cards are important. Buy one and support Westmont. They're only $9.00.

Show your spirit - come to see the Westmont Warriors battle the Prospect Panthers. Frosh-Soph, Thursday at Westmont - Varsity, Friday on Prospect's field.

Happy Anniversary Mom and Dad.

Ms.: Hey, Paul. What Superhero can edit three high school columns, write her own column, break through unlocked doors, sharpen pencils with her bare teeth, and who's secret sign is an uplifted hand, all under the guise of cub reporter for the Campbell Press?

EGO CORNER

This week Ego Corner honors our own superhero, Sally Howe, our Campbell Press editor.

Sally really is "super." She puts up with late deadlines, misspelled words, rotten typing......and us.

Paul: We didn't even talk about Dick Tracy.
Ms.: So...
Paul: But I like Dick Tracy.

NEW IDEAS

One must admit that the buildings of Campbell High School are a bit old and out of date, but surprisingly enough, the school itself is blossoming with new ideas for the coming year.

Our English department has been expanded to include semester courses in speculative fiction, contemporary literature, mass media, newspaper production, speed reading, creative writing and others.

There are also some specialty classes like Advanced Food, for the experienced homemaker, and a Letters and Science Seminar, this being part of a district-wide mentally gifted minor program, where selected students contract to do research or activities in a field of their choice.

On a different note, Campbell has been experimenting with a new way to start the day. As proposed by Mr. Gable, and approved by the school board, Campbell has been experimenting with a new way to start the day. As proposed by Mr. Gable, and approved by the school board, Campbell has replaced the traditional flag salute with a patriotic thought that is read by the teachers to the class in the form of a quote or famous saying. The state requires all schools to hold some kind of patriotic observances.

A GRADE FOR ALL SEASONS

One of the most talked about changes to come over Campbell this year is the adoption of the six week progress report. This gives everyone a chance to see just where they stand, and doesn't single out the poor student.

These reports are not sent through the mail, but given to the students. This way, there is no delay waiting for them to arrive. These grades do not go down in your personal records, but are only an indication to the student where he stands. They will be distributed this week so all you Campbell parents be sure to look for them.

STUDENT INVOLVEMENT

It seems that there are so many student clubs and commissions this year, that almost everybody in the student body is involved in some way or other.

Clubs and activities now include a chess club, a language club, photography commission, science and ecology club, pep club, spirit commission, records commission, foreign exchange club, a choir, a tennis team, and a ski club.

Also on campus is the Art Honorary, Campbell's CSF/Honor society, and a Debs club.

Most of these club and commissions meet during our noon activity period (lunch hour), either the first or second half of lunch. This is a very agreeable situation, because there is time to eat lunch, as well as go to the meetings. I think the real reason behind the big increase in student activities is mainly because that now the "bus riders" who could not participate before, can now get involved.

HI, TEACH!

Say hello to Campbell's NINE (Count 'em!) new teachers! They are: Michael Siddell in crafts (call her Ms!), Wendy Stiles, teaching shorthand, Craig Borba in special education and Judyth Dreiger, also of crafts.

Also in our midst is Judith Erhardt, girls P.E.; Jay Henry, head of the boys physical education department (who, incidentally, is a transfer from Leigh High), Carla Kane, in business, and finally, Arthur ("babyface") Maclean teaching social studies.

CAMPAIGN PROMISES

Class officers were elected last week with a not too exciting election campaign. Our new senior class president is Joe Meduri, who ought to make this semester a very eventful one.

Liz Taylor struck a blow for Women's Lib by being elected vice-president, with Francis Reda as secretary, and Stephanie Christy now acting as senior class treasurer.

For the Junior class, Tim Wheeler made good as president; Bob Hart, vice-president; Jeanette Johnson, secretary and Jodi Broderick for treasurer.

The sophomore class elected Jim Meduri president; Dave Burnham, vice-president; Manon Owen, secretary and Debbie Cargill, treasurer.

Carolyn Scrivano is the new freshman class president, Valerie Andriola has the second spot, Annette Wong, secretary, and Holly Wheeler juggles the books as treasurer.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Next week is a busy one for Campbell sports. Tuesday, October 17, at 3:30 is C and D basketball here, with Del Mar.

Wednesday, Oct. 18, at 2:30 is a Girls Sports swimming meet with Los Gatos at Del Mar. Wednesday at 7 p.m. is Back to School Night, by the way, and should prove to be interesting.

Thursday at 2:30 is girls tennis against Saratoga here. And at 3:30 is the frosh/soph football game at Del Mar (incidentally, they are having a much better year than our varsity). Also C and D basketball here against Saratoga, and cross country against Prospect at Del Mar.

On Friday, of course, is the varsity football game, 3:30, with Del Mar here. The big excitement at this game will be to see if Campbell manages to score before everybody gives up and goes home. It's not that they are a bad team, it's just that they have a little trouble finding the goal posts. Good Luck Bucs!!!

WALKING THE PLANK

No pun intended, but the people who run Campbell High School's bell system are real ding-a-lings. The first week of school, bells rang like crazy, with no regard to time. After a while, the thirty second bell blasts began to bug enough people so that they were most mercifully done away with.

After numerous meetings, the faculty decided it was best without any bells at all. The only trouble was, that none of the school's clocks are running the right time, so getting to classes became a game of hit-or-miss--either you hit it just right, or you missed your class.

Well, the day three of my teachers announced that we would only be having three bells throughout the day, the blasted bells began blasting away en masse again.

So here we are again, with the clocks still not working, and a pile of obnoxious noises during our day. My suggestion is that they get the clocks to run on time and forget the bells. Now doesn't that seem to make more sense to you?

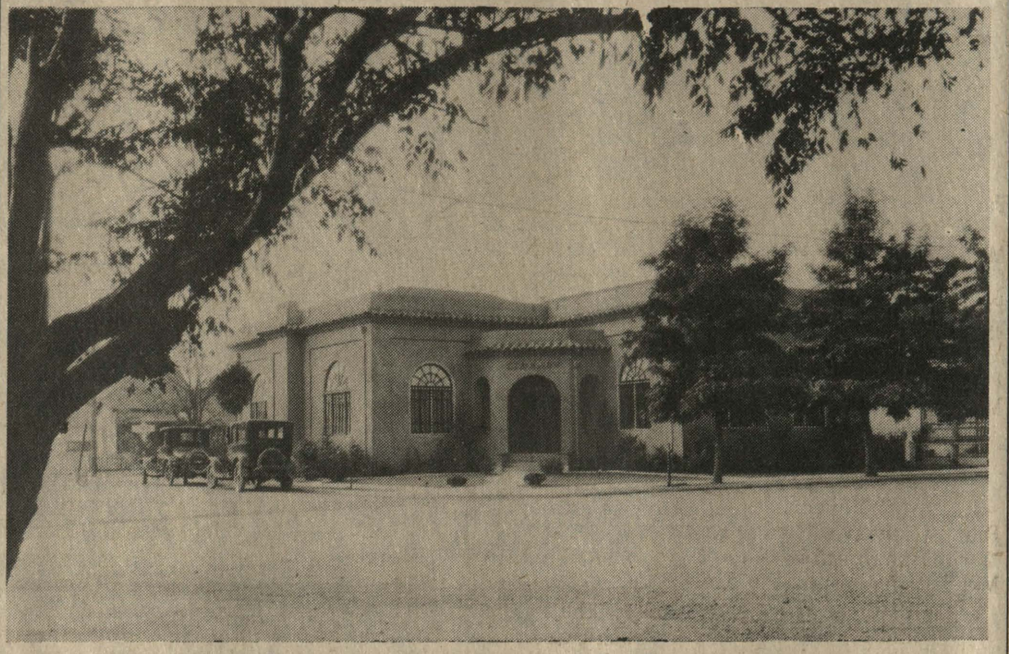
CAMPBELL "LANDMARK" HAS NEW NAME AND USE

A NEW ERA BEGINS

Country Womans Clubhouse changes into 'Briner Hall'



OLD PHOTO "DATES" WELL-KNOWN HALL

Although its use and name may have changed, a newly-remodeled 50-year old landmark off "downtown Campbell" still stands proudly on the corner of Campbell Ave. First St., an attractive reminder of the early days of Campbell. It housed the community's first library and was the center of civic activities for almost five decades.

It has been re-christened "Briner Hall" by the new owners, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Briner. But a number of years will probably go by before its new name will replace "Campbell Country Woman's clubhouse" at least in the minds of many who recall the hundreds of gatherings that took place under its roof during the almost 50 years it was used by the club.

When it was found that the upkeep of the building had become too much of a financial burden for the Campbell Country Woman's Club, the structure was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Briner, distributors for Kirby Co. The Briners immediately undertook an extensive refurbishing program.

The building was repainted inside and out, sections were re-roofed, the floors were sanded and polished, some new partitions were constructed and drapes, carpets and air conditioning were added. They estimate that the remodeling cost about $10,000.

Future plans call for the remodeling of the kitchen and the construction of an outside barbecue pit.

The new owners will continue to rent the hall for receptions and meetings, but they have converted the other large room into their office and reception hall.

The attractive exterior design of the 50-year-old building has not been altered in any way, although there have been some improvements made to the landscaping, as "Briner Hall" comes into exista istence and the Country Woman's clubhouse becomes only a fond memory to the community it served so long and well.

But The Country Woman's Club, which was founded in 1905, will continue to serve the community, although it no longer has its "very own" meeting hall. The club in its 67-year history can point to many civic achievements for which the membership was responsible.

Not the least, for example, was establishing Campbell's first library.

Actually the prime motive for the fund drive for the clubhouse in the early '20's was to obtain quarters for Campbell's first library and the large room that the Briner's have now remodeled into an office, housed the library for 35 years.

Club records reveal that an oil company in 1922 made an attractive offer to lease the property at Campbell Ave. and First St., that the women had acquired.

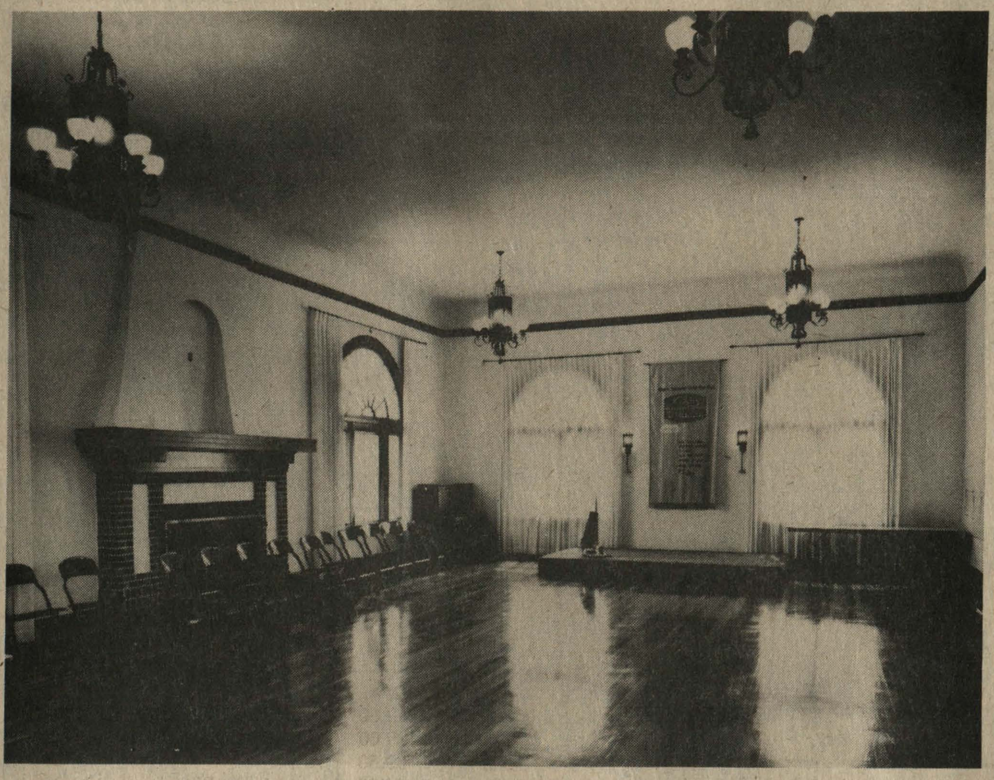
But the good ladies turned down the offer and embarked on a successful fund drive culminating in the construction of the clubhouse. The building was completed in September, 1923.

And the records also reveal that five years later (1928), a mortgage burning ceremony was held.

When the library was moved into the former variety store that was located at Central and Campbell, the former library quarters were turned into an historical museum.

Later the museum space was shared with the Campbell Chamber of Commerce until the CofC moved into its present location at 100 West Rincon.

Most of the articles that were in the museum when the building was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Briner are temporarily stored in the unfinished portion of the basement of the city hall.



NEW OWNERS REFURBISH HALL'S INTERIOR

SACRED CONCERT

A concert of sacred music will be presented by John Kraus, noted Bay Area concert pianist, at the First United Methodist Church of Campbell on Friday, October 20. He will be accompanied by his wife, Trudy, a soloist for several California oratorio groups.

Planetarium open Fridays

West Valley College's fall planetarium series is now under way with the current showing of "The New Look in Modern Observatories."

Each Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. through Nov. 3 the college's Saratoga campus planetarium will be displaying a look at and through the world's most sophisticated telescopes at major observatories. Some of the latest developments in optics and electronics and the view they provide will be shown.

At the end of the show the college's telescope will be available for viewing. The beginning of each show will be a view of what is currently overhead in the Santa Clara Valley sky.

Rick Mielbrecht will conduct each of the showings.

A 50-cent fee will be collected at the door. Reservations must be made through Community Services, 379-1733, ext. 58 not more than one month prior to a show.

Other shows this year include "The Bethlehem Star," "Astrology, Old and New," and "Cosmic Zoom."

Plans enacted to make this campus its own place

West Valley College's Mission campus in Santa Clara will most likely not be a duplication of its Saratoga campus.

That seemed to be the consensus expressed during a special governing board gathering recently. The meeting was an informal discussion among faculty members, students, citizens and the classified staff and administration of the college about the planning for the Santa Clara campus.

Most of those at the meeting seemed to agree that a duplication of the Saratoga campus would not fulfill all the educational needs of students in the West Valley College District.

Board member Donald Lindstrom noted "there's a lot going on in education and new innovative programs have to be included in the thinking for Mission."

Dr. Warren Sorenson, assistant superintendent for education, and Steve Keller, supervisor of facilities planning and construction, presented three alternatives to the construction at Mission--utilizing the existing plans for the campus and proceeding with construction (which would be a duplication of Saratoga), utilizing the existing plans and increasing the areas and allocation of space, or creation of a Mission Campus planning committee to come up with ideas for what educational offerings should be included at that site.

The latter recommendation was the one accepted by the governing board. The board directed the administration to come up with a recommendation for composition of the committee and how it will operate by the second board meeting in October (the 19th).

CHARLES S. GUBSER

OPENING SILVER JUBILEE —A Mass of Thanksgiving at noon last Sunday with Archbishop Joseph T. McGuckin, as celebrant, opened the week-long program of events marking the 25th anniversary of the founding of St. Lucy's as a parish. Archbishop McGuckin, with Father Leonard Bose, St. Lucy's pastor, on the left, are pictured as they entered the church in the processional from the parish house.

GENERAL CHAIRMAN — Mrs. Jeanette Watson, general chairman of the parish committee made up of almost 400 parishioners, points to the two palm trees that were among the many items presented during the offertory procession at the Mass of Thanksgiving on Sunday, representing the past, present and future of the parish.

FILLED CHURCH — There were few vacant seats in the 1200-capacity St. Lucy's church at noon on Sunday when a Mass of Thanksgiving with Archbishop Joseph T. McGuckin as the celebrant opened the week-long Silver Jubilee program marking the 25th anniversary of St. Lucy's as a parish. Approximately 10 priests, many of them who had been associated with St. Lucy's during the past 25 years took part in the ceremonies. Father John Lally, who preceded Father Leonard Bose, present pastor, could not be present because of illness.

TOP OFFICIALS—Supervisor Ralph Mehrkens (left) and Mayor Bill Podgorsek presented resolutions on behalf of the county supervisors and city council, respectively, during the offertory procession that was part of the Mass of Thanksgiving on Sunday which opened the week-long Silver Jubilee program of St. Lucy's.
